Functional Testing (Oligonucleotide Cleavage - Thymine Glycol) A 10 μl reaction in ThermoPol® Reaction Buffer containing 2.5 pmol of annealed oligo containing thymine glycol as the non-standard base and 1 μl of the NEBNext® FFPE DNA Repair Mix incubated for 20 minutes at 37°C resulted in >70% cleavage as determined by polyacrylamide gel electrophoresis.	Pass
Functional Testing (Oligonucleotide Cleavage - 8-oxo-guanine) A 10 μl reaction in ThermoPol® Reaction Buffer containing 2.5 pmol of annealed oligo containing 8-oxo-guanine as the non-standard base and 1 μl of the NEBNext® FFPE DNA Repair Mix incubated for 1 hour at 37°C resulted in >70% cleavage as determined by polyacrylamide gel electrophoresis.	Pass
Functional Testing (Oligonucleotide Cleavage - Uracil) A 10 μl reaction in ThermoPol® Reaction Buffer containing 2.5 pmol of annealed oligo containing uracil as the non-standard base and 1 μl of the NEBNext® FFPE DNA Repair Mix incubated for 10 minutes at 37°C resulted in >70% cleavage as determined by polyacrylamide gel electrophoresis.	Pass
Functional Testing (FFPE Repair Mix)  Pretreatment with NEBNext® FFPE DNA Repair Mix improves the quality of base calling, especially C & G for FFPE DNA, when compared to an untreated control as determined by sequencing on the Illumina® platform. NEBNext® FFPE DNA Repair Mix lowers the C:T (same as G:A) mutation for FFPE DNA, which is due to cytosine deamination to U, when compared to an untreated control as determined by sequencing on the Illlumina® platform.
